How to File in a Remand Subcase in ePUC

Once a remand subcase is opened, any filings related to the remand should be made in that subcase. Any further process regarding the remand (such as evidentiary hearings) will also take place in the remand subcase.

The process for making a filing in a remand subcase is identical to that for filing in the main part of a case, with one exception. After a remand subcase is created, regardless of what form you choose from the "Select Action" drop-down menu to make a filing, the first screen will appear as follows:

As soon as you click "Add to Remand," the usual question will appear about whether you are filing a corrected or amended version of a document previously filed with the Commission, as shown below. The rest of the form is identical to the form you see when the case does not have a remand subcase.
